

Staying safe and legal online.

The guide to safe sharing online

We live in a world that is filled with digital communication and the need to connect with others online. As more and more people are choosing to communicate online, they are knowingly releasing personal information that could leave them vulnerable to all kinds of cybercrime.

But what is safe to share and what is not?
It's over to you!

Take a look at the following examples and scenarios.

- What are the risks for each scenario?
- What advice would you give to ensure that being safe online is considered?

Filling in card details when making a transaction/purchase.

Risk

Advice

Giving your name & address when setting up delivery details.

Risk

Advice

Staying safe and legal online.

Typing in your contact number & email address when setting up an online account with a company.

Risk

Advice

Sharing photographs & videos on social media. E.g Instagram.

Risk

Advice

Sharing life events and updates on social media. E.g. Facebook.

Risk

Advice

Posting your CV and education history onto LinkedIn.

Risk

Advice